Adelphi College Has Knitting Problem

Chain Letter Circulates Among Coaches

It is probably a momentous problem at Adelphi College for Women in Garden City, L. I., and no doubt some of our troubles would sound as silly to them, but we couldn't help but chuckle when the following lead editorial greeted us as we opened up their paper the other day:

Knitting In Chapel

"Adelphi's great cultural project, better known as knitting, has heard its death knell sounded, as far as its usual hour at eleven on Thursday is concerned. Henceforth, no knitting will be allowed in chapel by order of the powers that be. It is absolutely necessary that the speaker be heard above the clicking of the flying needles that mark an Adephi girl anywhere. A guard will be stationed outside the chapel door to see that no knitting passes through the portals and should the knitting perhaps slip by, any girl found knitting in chapel will be given one third of a cut. It is thought that this form of persuation may produce better results than have been arrived at by means of appeals to the better nature of the individual. Of course you never can tell what repercussions may result from this unusual step. The student may be forced to take up Chinese Checkers."

The day when chain letters were all the rage has long since passed, but every now and then the die-hard enthusiasts of this indoor sport crop up with a new angle on one. Up from Texas in Coach Winters mail the other day came one of these diabolical little missives which was singular in that it didn't demand that the recipient part with any of his hard earned cash. It promised good luck to the man who put his name at the botom of the list and mailed out four copies to his friends in other parts. It threatened evil for those who consigned it to the waste basket with out further thought. Coach figured he had nothing to lose and so he complied with the regulations. Four days later his team won its first game in two years. By all rights, the story should end right here, but there is another added touch. One of the people to whom Coach sent a copy shot it right back to Ham Coll to the address of Mr. Prettyman. The latter, although he shudders at the mention of three on a match, was

Hamilton, Middlebury Argue on Neutrality

Tonight at 8:00 p. m., Hamilton tangles with Middlebury in a debate on the subject "Resolved: That the United States extend all possible aid to Britain and France in he present conflict short of participation by our armed forces".

The affirmative side of the question is being upheld by the Middlebury team; their opponents are Edwin Waszkiewics, '40 and T. Litchfield Howe, '40 of Hamilton. A lawyer-critic from Utica is expected to judge the contest, which is being held at Emerson Literary Society.

Last Monday night Hamilton men debated at Temple Beth-El in Utica on the Ludlow Amendment, which provides for a popular referendum before war can be declared. Murray Shepp, '40 and William Griffith, '40, argued in favor of the amendment, opposed by Boris Klosson, '40 and Harry McCormick, '40 on the negative side.

Accident Insurance Plan Offered Undergraduates

College Sponsored Project Will Cover Accidents Of All Types

Trustees Approve

Applications Mailed to Parents Describing Proposition, May Replace A. T. F.

The plan for student accident insurance, passed by the Trustees at their fall meeting, was announced to parents of Hamilton undergraduates by President W. H. Cowley in a letter mailed recently. The insurance goes into effect as soon as the individual parent has returned the application sent with each letter.

Guaranteed under the terms of the plan are medical expenses which may arise from an accident in which a student is injured during the college year. This includes X-rays, hospital bills, nurse and physician fees, laboratory costs, and medicines. In short, the injured undergraduate is reimbursed up to $250 for any medical cost incurred as the result of an accident.

The insurance, which has been in operation with gratifying results in several schools and colleges during the past four years, is broad in scope with no limitations or restrictions. It covers all accidents including those in sports, whether sustained at college, at home, or while traveling. Every accident, regardless of how, when, or where it occurs, is covered.

Due to the fact that it will be some time before a large percentage of the student body is covered by the insurance, the Athletic Trust Fund will be continued throughout the current year. This fund provides for payments up to $35 to those undergraduates injured in sports.

The Indemnity Insurance Company of North America is handling the new accident policies. Cost of the insurance for the balance of the college year is $10.

There has been agitation for such an insurance plan to benefit Hamilton undergraduates for several years, but not until recently has the college been able to work out a system which will be successful from every angl. It will be an improvement over the present A.T.F. system in that the claims can be six times as big, and the insurance civers all accidents.

Faculty Ratifies New Amendment To Honor System

Announces Own Committee On Honorary Degrees At Monday Meeting

At its meeting Monday afternoon, the faculty ratified an amendment to the honor system as requested by Stephen E. Kelly, '40, chairman of the honor court. The proposed amendment reads "that no student may go to his room, to the room of another student, or to the college library during an examination."

Before going into effect the new rule must be passed by a two thirds vote of the undergraduates assembled in chapel on a weekday morning. Notice will be given to the student body in a future issue of Hamilton Life of the date when the vote is to be taken.

Mr. Kelly, speaking for the honor court, said that the new rule was passed in order to remove unnecessary temptation to cheat in exams from the students. He also said that the question of amending the honor system had arisen as a result of several reports of violations of the system during final examinations last spring. The proposed amendment, he pointed out, will not bar students from returning to fraternity houses or going to Commons during an exam.

Committee Formed

Other business dealt with at the faculty meeting concerned the appointment of Professors Marsh, Hess, and Janzen as a committee on honorary degrees. At their last meeting, the trustees voted to give the faculty a voice in the choosing of candidates for honorary degrees. The faculty committee, therefore, will meet with the trustee committee, Messrs. Cowley, McGregor, Root, Towner, Abbott, and Woollcott.

Essay Topics Named

The subjects for the various essay and orational prizes for the current college year were also announced. The list follows: Dean Alfange Essay Prize, "The Constitutional Position of the President in Foreign Affairs"; Cobb Essay Prize, "Public Opinion Polls and Propaganda"; Cunningham Essay Prize, "Abraham Lincoln and his

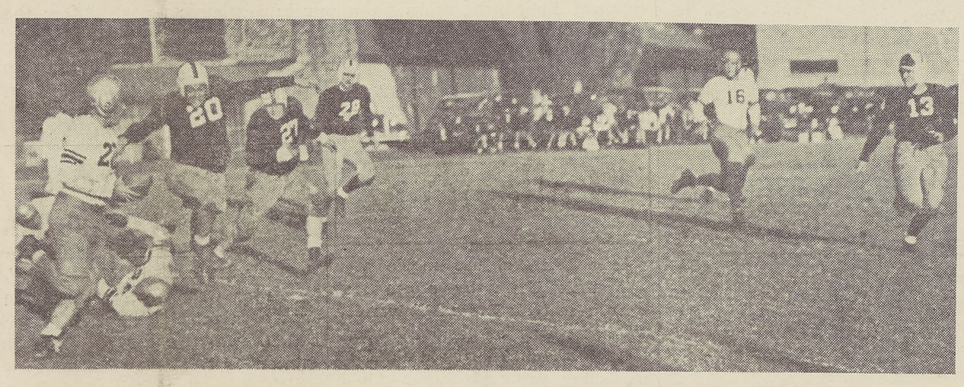
Danger Ahead! 13 Unlucky For Reed

Continentals Lose Again, Blanked by Swarthmore



13 was indeed an unlucky number for Reed (20), Swarthmore back, who is shown above carrying the ball a few seconds before being knocked out on a vicious tackle by Leavenworth (13). Other Hamilton players converging on the ball carrier are Thomas (20), Naylor (27) and Hatch (28). Photo by Cameron)

Eberle Runs 76 Yards For Only Goal, Score Is 6-0

Visitors Unbeaten

Defeat Is Fourth of Season For Continental Eleven, Haverford Next Game

Hamilton suffered its fourth defeat of the current football season Saturday when it bowed to Swarthmore 6-0 on Stueben Field. The visitors scored in the first quarter when they shook their star quarter back, Eberle, loose for a 76-yard touchdown dash. The Continentals never seriously threatened and drove no closer to the promised land than Swarthmore's 30-yard stripe.

They were two evenly matched teams that met Saturday, but Swarthmore was more consistent whereas the Buff and Blu suffered serious lapses that gave the invaders scoring opportunities.

A warm sun beat down on the muddy field as the whistle blew for the opening kickoff. Hamilton's ace line plunger Art Naylor rammed the pigskin up to his own 30 before being hit. The Continental attack couldn't get under way and Leavenworth, whose punts were things of beauty to watch, booted out of trouble to the Swarthmore 47. Wolfe banged through a surprised Hamilton defense on the first play for a first down, but the Continentals held and a kicking duel ended with Swarthmore finally taking the ball on its own 24.

76-Yard Run

Then came the play that kept Swarthmore among the unbeaten teams of the country. Behind hard charging interference Eberle slipped through the Continental line, reversed his field and sped past safety man Leavenworth 76 yards to the goal line. Griffin's attempt at conversion was unsuccessful, but the visitors already had their margin of victory.

Unleashing their fighting spirit the Continentals with Thomas wriggling through the Swarthmore secondary managed to chalk up three first downs before the first period ended.

After several exchanges of punts Swarthmore turned on the heat with a deadly passing attack in the second period which was

Current Affairs Forums Planned

Following the general plan of the famous Oxford Union, a tentative Current Affair Forum for Hamilton is now in the blue print stage. The Forum, which will be open to all Hamilton students, will meet each month with a topic of foreign or domestic affairs for discussion.

Procedure for the Forum, which is still in the plastic stage, has been arranged to include an outside speaker to begin the discussion, some prepared students to add to his talk, and an open discussion of the problem.

The Forum, which under the general sponsorship of Delta Sigma Rho and the former Political Science Club, has made arrangements for a tentative meeting before the Thanksgiving recess, to which all students are invited to express their views.

Other topics which may be discussed are "Propaganda" and "Russia—The Unknown Factor in European Affairs". Meetings are planned for November, December, February, March, and May, one topic to be discussed at each meeting.

The steering committee of the Forum, which will have charge of arranging the monthly meetings, is composed of two seniors, three juniors, and three sophomores. Three freshmen will be admitted after mid-term examinations.

Senior members of the committe are Boris Klosson and Harry McCormick; juniors are Robert Towner, Joseph Mangan, and Stephen Angell, and sophomores are William Dirolf, Robert Paddock, and George Tillman. Professors Janzen and Dealey and Mr. Merritt are faculty advisors.

All Seats Reserved For Union Game November 11

Every seat in the bleachers will be reserved for the annual Union game to be played on Stueben Field November 11. Alumni desiring tickets are urged to make reservations now by applying to Mr. Albert I. Prettyman in care of the gymnasium. Seats will be sold at $1.65, and a special alumni section has been reserved on the 50-yard line.

Students will get their tickets through the fraternities and the Squires Club. Men coming alone will be assigned to the cheering section. Those with guests will be taken care of separately.

Hamiltonians Star In Minstrel Show

Three Hamilton College students will loan their talents as entertainers to the fire-fighters of the village tomorrow and Friday night, when the Clinton Fire Department presents its minstrel show in the Clinton Central School auditorium. In addition, the Hamilton College Glen Lane Orchestra will provide the music for the original production, written and directed by Norman Parkhurst, director of athletics at the Clinton school.

Moody Preaches Chapel Sermon

Using as his text Psalms 39:4, "Jehovah, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; let me know how frail I am," President Paul D. Moody, D.D. of Middlebury College, Vermont, preached last Sunday in the Hamilton College Chapel.

"I do not believe that this psalmist wanted to know the date of his death, but just to realize the brevity of his life so as not to waste it," President Moody declared. "No man is so foolish as to want to look for that day. Such knowledge is paralysing.

"The psalmist didn't care either how physically or intellectually strong or weak he was. He was only interested in the inner man—the essential self. This unknown quality which we may call character or spirit and which cannot be measured makes all the difference in difficulties.

"What the psalmist wanted to know is the limits of his strength and endurance. Many times we are surprised when we find ourselves weaker than we think. Many men face temptations and bear burdens they never dreamed they could. Some are better than they know. When they are, humility is always a factor.

"Our most serious difficulties come from under-estimating what we confront and over-estimating the strength with which we confront it. To know our limitations is the only chance we have of overcoming them."

Frosh Counsellors Help Yearlings Get Education

Two weeks ago, Life ran an article on the new faculty Counselling Plan which was recently put into effect. The plan is apparently progressing rapidly and favorably according to general opinion. Life here takes the opportunity of stating the ideas and comments of some of the Counsellors.

The one thing upon which all the Counsellors who were interviewed agreed was the fact that the new system would assuredly bring about a closer relationship between the students and the faculty. They further stated hat since Hamilon is a small college, this relationship should be easy to develop and maintain.

Another point of common agreement was that the new counselling plan will not only help the student adjust themselves o their programs but also help fit schedules to the various likes and abilities of different students. This adjustment from secondary school environments to college surroundings will be facilitated to the best of the Counsellors' abilities.

Dr. Janzen brought out a salient point when he stated there is no such thing as a "father confessional" about this plan:

"Boys come here from different environments and they often do not know just what their problems actually are. It is for us to help them form proper study habits in balance with the right amount and type of recreation. The boys come in and meet us on a purely academic basis, not on social grounds or otherwise, and this should tend to do away with the traditional 'souping'.

"There should be no confessional note in these conferences because we do not pry into personal affairs, nor do we disclose to anyone else what goes on in these conferences. Conferences are held for the benefit of individual students and the problems they bring up are kept private".

Dr. Blyth said that under this plan students will feel that someone is personally interested in them, and that they are not just

D. H. Beetle Addresses High School Writers

"An ability to discover and recognize news is just as important as the ability to write it well". David H. Beetle, director of the Hamilton College Public Relations Bureau told more than 300 editors and writers from high school papers Friday.

His talk was given before the feature section of the Empire State Press Association which convened for a two-day session in Syracuse as guest of Syracuse University.

In developing his topic, "Column Writing", Mr. Beetle suggested that the high school journalists maintain an attitude of ever present curiosity and alertness in order best to fill their publications with readable and interesting material. He particularly recounted experiences in conducting the column, "The Press Parade" over a three-and-a-half year period for "The Utica Daily Press".

Student Studies Faculty Chapeau and Coat Tastes

Nothing less than a combination of a three-inch snowfall and a faculty meeting gave the undergraduate mind a chance to study faculty dress habits.

Professors, who are bounded somewhat in their choice of clothing (meaning, of course, that they seldom wear dungarees, sweat shirts, and week-old beards to class), have some kind of definite trend toward clothes.

'Twas four Monday afternoon, and the solons were in high connivance 'round a table on the second floor of the Administration Building. Rubbers and overshoes littered the waiting room floor; coats, brief cases, hats and scarfs were piled two feet deep on every bench, chair and umbrella stand within eyesight. Only the stately clock stood unmolested.

Then came the reckoning. A steadfast devourer of Esquire, chancing in to drop eight bucks to the Gym Fund, decided to get to the bottom of the faculty clothing quesion. Endowed with a statistical mind, he took out a pencil and paper and went to wrok.

The Arctic influence was strong Monday p. m., six of the profs having worn overshoes. 24 others came with rubbers.

Dark coats were strongly in favor. Ten of them were either folded or dropped across waiting room furniture. Brown coats ran a close second with nine while gray coats present numbered eight.

Gray was the predominant color selected to enclose Hamilton faculty gray matter—no less than seventeen professors warded off the cold with this color chapeau. Thirteen brown hats remained above the sea coasts; how many were under was a question. Only two dark hats were around, but one snappy gray cap stuck up bravely from between a brief case and a reversible.

Speaking of reversibles, don't think the undergraduate body has a monopoly on these. Three faculty men wore them to the Monday meeting.

Quite intriguing was the brown

Freshmen to Attend Wells College Dance

Hamilton College freshmen will travel to Wells College this Saturday for the annual dinner and dance. About 60 freshmen have signed up to go. There will be room for 10 or 15 sophomores or upper classmen who want to join the party. Was Los, junior honorary society, has arranged the pairing off of Hamilton and Wells freshmen. Two buses have been chartered, and several private cars will provide transportation.

The freshmen will leave at 2:30 in order to be ready for dinner at 6:30. After dinner there will be a movie, and then the formal dance, which lasts until 12:30. At that time the buses will return to Hamilton.

William E. Davis, '40, headed the committee to arrange the dates.

This is the second time in recent years that a party of this type has been arranged. Last year three bus loads journeyed to Aurora.

POOR SPORTSMANSHIP

Seldom have Hamiltonians witnessed such a poor display of sportsmanship as that shown by members of the Swarthmore team in their football game here Saturday with the varsity. Because of the traditional spirit of friendliness and mutual understanding that has existed between the two schools throughout their many years of athletic relations, it is hard to reconcile the belligerent attitude of this team with the friendly competitive spirit of other Swarthmore elevens.

Two incidents, one of which occurred before the game and one immediately afterwards, demonstrated the bad feelings which the visitors held towards the Hamilton team. A pre-game squabble over mud cleats sent both teams out on the field fighting mad, and, as the game ended; Eberle, star Swarthmore back, ran off the field loudly and profanely urging his teammates not to give a cheer for the Hamilton team which at that moment was in a huddle cheering for Swarthmore.

Nothing had occurred during the game to give witnesses to these incidents any reason to believe that they were at all justifiable. Very few penalties had been called, there were no evidences of dirty playing, and, although, one Swarthmoreite had been stretched out cold by a hard tackle, it was obviously nobody's fault, and finally Swarthmore had won the game fairly and squarely. What then could have prompted such a malicious feeling on the part of the Swarthmore team?

Three years ago Swarthmore officials appealed to Hamilton for permission to play members of their freshman team in the annual game with Hamilton. The reason given for this request was that it was Homecoming Day at Swarthmore and in order to make an impressive showing the team needed freshman players. The Athletic Department consented to this arrangment with the stipulation that the freshmen who played in that game would not be permitted to play against Hamilton in their senior year. This was only a natural request because of the three year rule under which Hamilton operates.

This, then, was the year during which that provision was to take effect. Several seniors including the captain of the Swarthmore team did not participate in the game Saturday because of this agreement. Could the Swarthmore players have thought that they were being given a raw deal in this game? This would hardly seem a logical thought if they had been fully informed of the circumstances. Did the Swarthmore board of strategy use this unusual situation to stir up the team members to a fighting pitch?

These questions are uppermost in the minds of Hamiltonians at the moment. Everyone desires that relationships between Hamilton and Swarthmore be maintained in the future as they have in the years past. There is no reason why this cannot be. However, it is only natural that there should be an apology, or, at least, an explanation from Swarthmore for their unsportsmanlike conduct last Saturday.

THE COUNSELLER PLAN

Two professors stated in a recent discussion about the new faculty counselling plan that many students in all four classes regarded their subjects as merely three more hours towards a degree; that they put no more effort into their work than is necessary for a passing grade; and that they frequently sit in the classroom with a defiant "we dare you to teach us anything" attitude. This attitude brings about an unfortunate situation which, if carried to an extreme, might easily defeat the purpose of education. It would be ideal, of course, to have such undivided interest in studies that scheduled classes could be done away with and general discussions and seminars be held by the students with the professors acting as advisors. The present, situation, however, illustrates that this method of education at Hamilton is far from being realized.

These same professors also brought out the fact that the cynical attitude which is so typical of upperclassmen is apt to be copied by the sophomores and freshmen. Classes and preparation for them are the most important parts of life at Hamilton; and if a disinterested, careless attitude is taken towards them, other college activities are likely to suffer accordingly.

The cause of this cynical outlook has not definitely been discovered, but it is one of the chief problems that the counsellors have to solve. It is up to them to direct and channel the interests of lower classmen in such a way that whatever distracts students, may be removed. This particular situation at Hamilton is probably no different from that at any other college, but the possibilities of remedying it are now here.

The new faculty offices are a great help in making these individual conferences successful. One professor said that more boys have come in to see him during the two weeks the plan has been in effect than in all previous years combined. This seems to be an indication that the students realize the advantage of being able to meet their professors on a purely academic basis. After the plan is several years old and conferences grow increasingly frequent, there should be a closer and more intimate relationship between faculty and students than there has been in life at Hamilton for many years.

Collegiana

Jane Withers, the movie star who took Utica by storm last week, also took Boston University the same way on her visit there recently. The 13-year-old attended a rushing party at Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and gave out the following statement. "I hope soon when I grow up a little more that I won't be playing the part of the hateful little brat. I'm really not like that".

Before she left the campus, Jane demanded an initiation paddle and after putting the president of all-University Council in the proper position, she showed she knew how to swing one.

Another movie actress to visit a college campus recently was Ann Rutherford. She was shown around Washington by Romeos from Georgetown, Maryland, George Washington, American, and Catholic Universities. Ann's escorts were picked in a Romeo contest sponsored by Loew's Capital Theater.

With the Charlatans tackling "The Petrified Forest", other eastern colleges start work on productions which seem just as ambitious. Rochester is rehearsing Sidney Howard's "The Silver Chord"; Upsala will attempt Ibsen's "A Doll's House"; and the Hobart Little Theater will put on A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim".

Bob Crosby and his Bobcats will play for the R. P. I. Interfraternity Ball on December 1. More news from the town of the Engineers is to the effect that one of the R. P. I. freshmen, "Sandy" MacPherson, was kidnapped by Union men on the eve of the Union-R. P. I. football game. The yearling was taken back to Schenectady as a hostage in order to force the release of Union man, Paul Jones. Exchange of prisoners was not arranged until five o'clock Saturday morning.

From the "Amherst Student" of October 23—"Pulling 16,202 inches of cigarettes out of his case each year, the average Amherst student draws $43.65 worth of smoke and $5.82 of Massachusetts tax into his mouth. At the same time the 74% of the student body which contributed to the Amherst Chest Drive gave on the average only $3.30—equal to 10% of the cost of the tobacco bought by Amherst men and 57% of the money reaped from the Amherst student body by the State of Massachusetts on its cigarete tax alone.

"At the same time the average Amherst undergarduate, spending 62% more for his attire than the average college student, gives less than 1% of this expenditure to the Chest Drive . . . With 57% of the student body owning cars, a figure only 22% less than the number of Amherst men giving to the Drive, each car owner spends an average of $900 for his automobile."

Dr. Strauss Entertained

Dr. Strauss visiting lecturer, was yesterday entertained both at a tea given at the home of Professor Hauch, and later in the evening by the members of the Squires Club in their headquarters at the Hall of Commons.

Also present at the tea, besides Dr. Strauss, were various members of the faculty and also German students in the upper courses.

Later in the evening Dr. Strauss, Professor Hauch, and Professor Blyth attended an informal gathering at the room of Squires Club in the Hall of Commons. This meting was the first of a regular Sunday evening series of informal "bull sessions" that the Squires Club will hold with the faculty members.

Mrs. Miner Directs Clinton Production

A one-act comedy. "The Boor", by Anton Checkhov, featured the first of a scheduled series of social evenings sponsored by the Clinton Little Theatre Group, of which several Hamilton College faculty members and their wives are members.

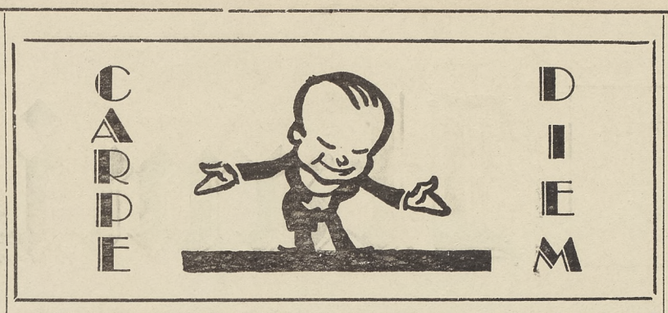
The comedy was directed by Mrs. Robert G. Miner, and included in its cast Dr. Otto K. Liedke, instructor in German. Refreshments were served.

The "socials" are held in the Younger Republican rooms, West Park Row, in the village. The next one-act play and social evening will take place in mid-December.

Fling Erects High Efficiency Aerial

The strange looking contraption slung between Root Hall and Carnegie is the latest addition to the Department of Romance Languages. It is a specially-constructed, tunable, short-wave aerial, put up in a direction most advantageous to receive broadcasts from Europe. Inside Root Hall 8, amongst a gallaxy of other electrical and sound equipment in the phonetics laboratory, spread over several radios, and ready to bring France and England as close as you like, with no danger of air raids or barrage.

With this radio Mr. Fling intends to give students an opportunity to hear French as it is spoken in France. Recording of news broadcasts will not only serve the purpose of teaching French, but will keep students up to date on world events.



Teas were the order of the day during the last week-end, and proved to be pretty peachy. "Roxy" issued the most acclaimed invitations by message-ing, "I can't imagine why anyone would be silly enough to go to a tea, but come around anyway. We'll have big sandwiches and nobody will have to stay long."

"Ex-abodomen Al" Cady was not his usual, smooth, sophisticated self over the wires, when he took that all-important Boston Call, forwarded to him at "Father" Moore's tea party, Sunday afternoon. He did manage to get out a weak, "Huh-lo," and a still weaker, "We're having pretty lousy weather here," before the effect of fourteen pairs of interested eyes staring up into the middle of his back from the tables of assorted cross-word puzzles, "Radio," scraps, and chinese checkers got to be a little too much and he decided that maybe, after all, he'd better write her a letter.

The Alpha Delts have taken on some new "Fratres in Urbe" in the persons of "Grumpy", "Stewy", and Bud. As yet, their duties have not been too clearly defined, other than locating a little man named "Jack" someplace between Hamilton Collge and the Empire State Building.

Joe Dunnigan finally got rid of that "Jolly Psi U diamond" after three straight week-ends of trying. It's lucky that the House pledge pins are the same shape, or before long, at this rate, the only diamonds left in the Hall of the Hooters are going to be in somebody's wristwatch.

That little dribble of winter that did such a messy job last Sunday around the place furnished some of the brethren no end of heart-tearing, swear-wording and cut-dropping before it got through. Wes Perine is supposed to have the high trip total with his 36 hour plus, from Boston, but Puckhafer, and his carful of E. L. S. grabbed off the record for arrival time by pulling in at 2:30 Monday afternoon, cold, tired, and pretty well dinked.

The Chubby Rat, otherwise Gar Hole, records the finding, at last of a "sensible girl" within the confines of Wells College. No one, least of all the Rat, quite knows the meaning of the term, but it doesn't seem to mean un-juicy, no matter how you look at it.

And then they say that athletes are noted only for their feats on the field of honor. It seems that the Propaganda Bureau sent out a dispatch to inform all the good peoples of Smithtown Branch that Arthur P. Seaver, Jr., a member of the college band, was going to play solo trumpet for the Rochester game at Rochester. Of course, the fact that he was also playing, a member of the college team, at halfback for the Rochester game at Rochester, doesn't really make any difference, but might, we think, have been mentioned.

* * * * *

It may have been that little blonde in the first row of the balcony, but whatever the story is, the Choir spent a good hunk of Sunday's rehearsal getting bawled out for "oogling the congregation," to quote a quote of bawler-outer Prof. Fancher, probably peeved cause he had to turn his back.

* * * * *

Greatest manhunt (well, at least the greatest hunt) ever to take place on the Hamilton campus took place Tuesday afternoon and stretched through the Library, Gym, Sage building, soccer field, and Silliman Hall, not to mention the salts and studies of DKE. Mangan's Syracuse Sender, Patty by name, drove down for a surprise visit, arriving about 2, and got the surprise herself, when at 5:30 he was still unfound. By the time she left, "Joe Stearns" Lux, and "Smiley" Hayes had managed to jo-jo the league entirely, telling better and better stories as time went on. And then, about 6, a drooly figure staggered up out of the cellar, where upon it turned out that through all the hubbel and bubbel, through all the calls of "Joe!" he'd been sound asleep in the goatroom.

That last chap in last week's column snuk in some way or other and really needs another note of explanation. It seems that G. G. Smith was springing a crop of barber's delight from way back, and Don Elliot had organized a posse of Commons waiters to shave the whole mess off. Prevailing upon the long line of barbering blood that flowed in the veins of "Oolong" Sottong (his cousin's uncle went to Barbers' College), Gerald got himself tonsorially perfect enough to stand off the villains' attack without a mental quiver, though he did keep feeling of his ears from time to time, with nervous shudders.

Stanley Palewski, '32, newcomer to politics, defeated the veteran Dan T. Burke for justice of the peace in the Utica elections.

Soccer Team Drops Game To Williams Booters, 2-0

Early Scores by Williams Bring Victory Over Continentals

Playing at Williamstown last Saturday, the Hill soccer team dropped its fifth consecutive game by 2-0. The Williams squad was handicapped by the absence of four of its stars, but put up a game showing to hold the Hamilton team scoreless.

The first quarter found the contest fairly even with Hamilton holding a slight edge for the first few minutes. However, the Williams booters made a sudden drive on the goal. Gibson, substitute center forward, scored on a pass from FitzGerald, inside left, who had dribbled the ball within scoring distance. With four minutes of the initial quarter left, the Williams team was awarded a corner kick. On the play the ball was headed in by Hopkins, Williams' inside right. The rest of the quarter was uneventful.

In the second period the Williams team was handicapped by a glaring sun which shone into their eyes. Hamilton took the offensive and kept the ball in enemy territory almost the entire quarter. Lowell, the Williams goalie, was forced to make numerous saves, but he proved himself by keeping the ball out every time the Hill forward line made an attempt to score. At the half the score was still 2-0.

The third period was much like the one before it, but the conditions were reversed. This time Hamilton played a defensive game and the Purple attempted to take advantage of the sun. The ball was in Hamilton territory much of the time. But the Hill team showed that it too could ward off a continued assault. Even a scramble before the cage, which MacLenathan guarded for Hamilton, failed to materialize into a tally.

The Hill outfit made a last effort to score in the fourth quarter when they again had the advantage of favorable lighting. The nearest the Buff and Blue came to scoring was when a shot by Meier, center forward, bounced off the top bar of the cage and out of the field. Fox, the Williams captain, was suffering from a slight injury and played only the final five minutes of the game. In the final minute of the game, Root, Buff and Blue inside right, was injured and has been on crutches since.

Both teams played excellent soccer all the way through the 88 minutes of play. Williams made no substitutions until the final quarter. The Williams schedule for the year includes Harvard, Yale, Amherst, Wesleyan, and Tufts.

The line up:

D.K.E. Annexes Football Crown

In a hard-fought close game the Delta Kappa Epsilon grid team nosed out the Emerson Literary Society squad by the score of 12-6 to win the college intramural football championship. The Dekes made all their points in the first half, while the Emersonians scored their lone tally late in the last quarter.

With the game only about two minutes old, John Symes intercepted a pass and raced for the first touchdown for the Dekes. Then in the second quarter a pass from Alfred Cady to Thomas Bush netted the second score for the team.

After the half ended with the Emersonians on the Dekes one-yard line, the two teams fought themselves to a standstill in the third quarter. Then following a series of successful passes, George Thompson scored the lone tally for the losers in the last five minutes of play.

Sidewalk Superintendent Says . . .

Work has progressed rapidly on the gymnasium everywhere, with the exception that through the bankruptcy of a roofing concern a day was lost in the work on the roof of the squash courts last week

* * * * *

The swimming pool and its room are practically finished. All the wall tiles have been installed, and nearly all the cork on the upper walls and ceiling is in place. The installation of one of the walls had been held up because of the misplacement of a cuspidor and a drinking fountain both of which were intended to be recessed in this wall. The room is to be completely air conditioned by a system of conduits which will draw clean air from outside and lead it through a battery of heaters into the room. Spectators will be unable to walk around the pool itself, but will be able to enter the gallery and from there will gain an excellent view of the pool. Swimmers will enter from the locker rooms by a system of passageways and finally through a twenty foot foot-bath. All people who have athlete's foot, colds, sinus, or an open cut of any kind will not be allowed to use the pool. It is hoped that through a program of education that the undergraduates will learn the proper use of the pool, and thereby cut down on sickness which is often caused by swimming in an indoor pool.

* * * * *

Last week your reporter noted with surprise that five or six of General Burton's men were shovelling coal into the gym's bins. We found that with the completion of the roof of the squash courts and the installation of window panes throughout the building it will be possible to begin the heating and drying out of the building, and subsequent flooring and painting of the interior of the building will be possible.

* * * * *

Ordinarily the only entrance to the fencing room will be from the locker rooms up the back stairs, and along the corridor over looking the squash and basketball courts. The building has been designed in this way so that only members of the teams will be able to gain access to these rooms, and at the same time visitors may see them but not be in the way of the sports.

Workers have been installing a manganese insulation on the larger heating pipes in the basement. This insulation comes in split sections which are glued onto the pipes.

Football Team to Play Haverford; Soccer Men Travel to Rochester

Hamilton College's two major athletic teams will play major contests this week-end when the football squad meets Haverford and the soccer squad the University of Rochester. Both games will be played away.

The football team has high hopes of recording its second victory of the year on Saturday against the Haverford eleven. Both teams have had poor seasons, with Haverford still trying to record its first victory of the year. Following its defeat at the hands of Swarthmore last Saturday, the Continentals find themselves with a record of four defeats and a sole victory against the University of Rochester two weeks ago. Haverford has lost to Union, Wesleyan, John Hopkins, and Lehigh, and has tied Allegheny, but in spite of no victories has scored 55 points in the five games. Hamilton has shown less scoring punch, having been able to amass only 20 points during the season. The Buff and Blue defense appears stronger, however, having held the opponents to 63 points, against 142 for Haverford.

Haverford will place a light team on the field, but this will still not give the Continentals any weight advantage. Stars like Williams, Prescott, Magiel, Beeler, Hemphill, and Peters promise to be ready Saturday, so that a hard battle looms ahead for the Buff and Blue.

The soccer team will end its season play on Saturday, when they play at Rochester in the second of a home-and-home series. Earlier this season, the Yellowjackets defeated the Continentals, 2-1. Having sustained five defeats thus far against no victories, the Gelasmen will be fighting to end the season successfully. Five seniors will play their last game for Hamilton at that time, these being: Captain Wes Sprague, Steve Kelly, "Chuck" Root, Farley Fish, and George Lenci.

Fraternity Notes

By Bob Brennan, '41

The Theta Delts were at home to the faculty after the Swarthmore game last Saturday.

The Psi U Five Power Conference will be held December 2, at the University of Rochester. The Five Power Conference is an annual meeting of representatives of the five New York State chapters of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, the Hamilton, Rochester, Union Syracuse, and Cornell chapters. Tentative plans are being made for the whole Hamilton chapter to make the trip to Rochester in a bus. The conference was held at Hamilton two years ago, and will next be held here in 1943.

The Squires Club held its second dance of the college year last Saturday night in the Hall of Commons. The party was reported to be the usual success.

The D. U.'s held a tea after last Saturday's football game for guests of the fellows.

We ran a new column last week entitled "The President's Album" the purpose of which is to chronicle the wanderings and activities of Dr. Cowley. Someone has suggested that the next logical step is to sign up Mrs. Cowley to write "My Day". This has us stopped completely.

No paper serves its duty to the community unless it runs at least one poll to canvass, student opinion on various subjects. This year the trend has been to discover what collegians all over the country think about the European war and all of its aspects both national and international. Doubtlessly Hamilton students, if given such a chance to express opinions, would condemn Nazi Germany, favor the Allies, recommend complete neutrality for the United States, and refuse to fight except in defense of their country. Therefore, the first Life poll will concern itself with questions pertinent to the college. The senior class will be polled tomorrow in chapel on questions which we think are ususually interesting. The results will appear next week.

SWARTHMORE GAME—

thwarted deep in Buff and Blue territory when Leavenworth intercepted a toss on his own 18-yard marker.

Thomas who was a consistent yard gainer for the Continentals during the game made another first down in that period. As half time drew near Keane started firing passes one of which was intercepted by the Swarthmore secondary.

The second half began inauspiciously until the Swarthmore attack again began to function and the visitors marched in a sustained five first down drive which carried to the Hamilton 22 before another intercepted pass put an end to the threat.

The third quarter ended with Leavenworth back in punt formation, and the fourth period got under way when he booted the ball beautifully out of bounds on the Swarthmore six-yard line. Although fighting desperately in the waning minutes of the game to gain possession of the ball and try for a score, Hamilton was kept busy defending her own territory from the persistent Quaker eleven.

The final gun saw Keane firing passes in a last second attempt to pull the game out of the fire.

FROSH COUNSELLORS—

so many cogs in a slowly turning wheel. Some freshmen for instance, are apt to be disappointed and unhappy at first but they do not know why. Here the counsellors may be able to discover what causes the distraction and help the boys re-adjust themselves to an unsatisfactory arrangement.

Dr. Moore stressed the idea that the program should be adapted to the students rather than the students to the program. He also stated that many men slipped through college on a very low average, but that aptitude tests showed that these men were not mentally unable to do the work. Their case could be remedied if a careful and intelligent diagnosis were made. In connection with this same point, Dr. Janzen brough out the fact that many students in all four classes did not know why they were in college—they have no motivation or perhaps think it is merely the right thing to do. He said that the Counsellors can elaborate on and incite interest by talking to the students.

In one brief sentence, Dr. Blyth summed up the purpose of the Counselling Plan: "We are helping the students GET an education rather than GIVING them one".

Only two canes stood bravely up in the hallway. One, a tough-looking natural wood one, was stuffed behind the door, while a black one with a gold head protruded from the umbrella rack. Two umbrellas upheld the Chamberlain influence.

Nearly all colors of the rainbow flashed in the waiting room when professors left their scarfs. A brilliant red one slunk out of sight in a pocket of a dark coat, while a brown one with yellow polka-dots lay bravely across the bench. A blue scarf tinged with white, red, and brown couldn't make up its mind whether to stay in the pocket or fall on the floor.

Most striking feature of the entire collection was that brief cases, the terror of the student and the bulwark of the prof, were almost conspicuous by their absence. Only four of these satchels could be found.

The observer thought he might make a survey of the different clothing houses represented, but let his discretion be the better part of his valor and crept out the front door before the stampede downstairs began.

MINSTREL SHOW—

Club functions, is scheduled early in the program to sing—"The Man With The Mandolin". Tom O'Donnell, '42, soloist in the college choir, will sing an Irish ballad, while Tom Carpenter, '42, will agitate his soles in a tap dance number.

One of the members of the chorus is Marlo Gilbert, a former member of the Hall of Commons management. Harold Dickie, known to most of the Hill mail-receiving population as "Red" the mailman, will be one of the eight end men.

Rehearsals for "Another Language", the comedy-drama in which three Hill personages will appear, are progressing rapidly, and it is expected the play will soon be ready for dress rehearsal.

Receiving the acclaim of the other members of the cast for her splendid interpretation of Stella Hallam, Mrs. W. H. Cowley will appear in the lead feminine role when the play is presented in the Clinton Central School auditorium November 20 and 21.

Help guard against
"PINK TOOTH BRUSH"
with Ipana and Massage

A BRIGHT, sparkling smile is so important to good looks! Don't risk "pink tooth brush"! Give your gums as well as your teeth proper care!

But if your tooth brush should flash that warning tinge of "pink" —see your dentist at once. You may not be in for serious trouble, but let him decide. Usually, however, his verdict will be "gums robbed of work by our modern soft foods" — "gums that need exercise for better health." And, as so many dentists do, he may suggest the healthful stimulation of Ipana and massage.

Get an economical tube of Ipana at your druggist's today. Each time that you brush your teeth, massage a little extra Ipana into the gums. For Ipana is especially designed not only to keep teeth bright and sparkling but with massage to help the health of the gums as well. Help keep your smile attractive the Ipana way!
